

White Listing Send Word Now SENS System

An email whitelist is a list of email addresses or domains that are recognized as acceptable to receive email from and should not be sent to the trash folder. Whitelists can be defined on the server level or by an individual by marking a sender as "Junk."

From time to time, Send Word Now adds/updates their email servers to optimize service delivery.

Please ensure that the following IP ranges have been white listed within your organization:

74.217.49.0/25

69.25.227.128/25

All of their SMTP traffic flows out of domain sendwordnow.com, although it's possible to see traffic from any of the following sub domains. Please note that sendwordnow.net is their online production environment (customers use it while accessing the service itself). While there are no plans for you to see SMTP traffic from it at present, you may also wish to white list that domain.
